

Abstract of the disclosure

An implantable fuel cell assembly containing a device for converting fat to glycerol and fatty acid, a device for converting glycerol to hydrogen, a device for converting fatty acid to hydrogen, a device for converting a bodily fluid to a gas selected from the group consisting of hydrogen, oxygen, and mixtures thereof, and a fuel cell for producing electricity from hydrogen and oxygen.